

Kids for Kids LIVE!

In response to COVID-19, we started hosting weekly intergenerational programs designed to engage children 8 and up. Every week we hosted different guest speakers such as changemakers of all ages, experts on social issues, leaders of nonprofits, and key stakeholders. Throughout the 20+ sessions, we covered topics from food to boredom, hosted guests from grands to first responders, and explored philanthropic tools from the power of writing to protesting and child activism. Every week we had a diverse group of people join us for these thoughtful conversations. We are incorporating the lessons and content from this important moment in time into our current programming.
